Imagination in a World of Entities

Leaving the comfort of your mind
Into the unknown of your heart
Letting the feelings of your mind
Combine with your heart

Every child knows the feeling
Every child can lose it
Every child might keep it
Every child can control it

Unknown ideas flourish within you
Binding in ideas to reality
Colouring in the black and white
Cherished forever without a doubt

Every person knows it
Every person can feel it
Few will use it
Few will embrace it

Like an eagle soaring high
Like a seagull seeking fish
Like an ospreys vision
Or a frogfishs illusion

Filling in what your mind couldnt
Filling in the empty slots
Filling in a colouring book
Like a toddler doing doodles

Truth is key its all you
Feelings are colours shining through
Emotion is the luster people see
Creation would be empty without thee

Benjamin M. Taylor